'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

It's lots of fun—with a smattering of Mexican and high school Spanish ability—to attempt to decipher the picturesque names in which California abounds.

Most everyone knows that San Pablo means Saint Paul.

El Cerrito—that says "The Little Hill" in Spanish.

Pinole is an Indian name and means only an Indian would know what.

Martinez is a family name.

Merced means "mercy."

Mariposa, if I'm not mistaken, untangles into "Butterfly."

San Francisco, of course, is Saint Francis.

All the San and Santa towns are named for saints and whatever the feminine term for a saint is.

Palo Alto translated literally, would mean "tall stick" which has something possibly to do with the Roosevelt family.

Incidentally it was interesting to learn the meaning of "Tiajuana." Way back, it seems, a woman noted for her tortillas and other Mexican cookery enjoyed extreme popularity in that region.

She was called Aunt Jane by everyone and eventually the settlement became called "Aunty Jane" for her.

But that's getting out of the state.

MACHADO IS CHARGED AS EMBEZZLER

HAVANA, Aug. 15.—UP— A civil suit was filed today charging Gerardo Machado, ousted president, with embezzlement.

NASSAU, Bahamas, British West Indies. Aug. 15.—UP— Gerardo Machado, exiled president of Cuba, arrived here by airplane last Sunday morning with only a few dollars, officials of the island here said today.

Requests Probe

Machado requested an official investigation of his personal finances when rumors were circulated in the fashionable resort colony here that he had deposited $2,000,000 in local banks.

A government representative issued the following statement:

"Senor Machado and his party placed themselves at the disposal of authorities for investigation. A result of this inquiry is the finding that they did not land carrying suitcases filled with currency as rumored, and made no deposits other than such a sum which modest businessmen might require for a trip abroad."

HAVANA. Aug. 15.—UP— An early adjustment of Cuba's national indebtedness, held largely by banks in New York and by individual bondholders scattered thruout the United States, was given consideration today by provisional President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes.

Gets House in Order

The president named Finance Secretary Martinez Saenz to handle these affairs temporarily involving the governments of Cuba and the United States. He was instructed to arrange all economic and financial matters through United States Ambassador Sumner Welles.

The move was understood generally to concern the possibility of early readjustments in the nation's foreign indebtedness.

The United Press understood that the change in the Cuban regime will force immediate formal discussions of a complete reconstruction of the republic's financial situation.

In all probability an American

State Stunned By Fruit—Field Strike

WALKOUTS SPREAD TO NEW FIELDS

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 15 —UP— More than 5000 orchard workers and cannery employes lost their jobs today as widespread strikes brought the San Joaquin peach industry to a standstill.

Fruit pickers walked out, demanding 30 and 35 cents an hour, instead of the 17½ cents they were receiving, and an eight hour day.

Packers Quit

The Kings county packing company at Armona and the California Packing company canneries were forced to suspend operations since they depend upon the Tagus ranch to supply them with the season's crop.

Approximately 2000 pickers left the Tuttle and Atwater ranches near Merced, and as a result the California Packing corporation said peaches would be allowed to rot in the huge orchards.

The crop will be charged off as acreage reduction under the NRA peach canning code.

Spreads to Pears

Agitation for general walkouts spread to Santa Clara county where 500 pear pickers were said to have struck for 30 cents an hour wages. They have been receiving 20 cents.

Seven hundred Filipinos struck in the Salinas valley lettuce fields.

While it appeared the Tuttle and Atwater ranch crops would be abandoned. Plans were laid to put entire new crews at work on the Tagus ranch.

Police Escort

Scores of officers, augmented to 39 state highway patrolmen, escorted strikers from the property and prepared to protect the new workers recruited from ranks of unemployed in Fresno and Visalia.

Possibility of trouble arose when many strikers refused to move from their camp houses on the Tagus ranch, insisting they would resist in court an ouster order signed by Superior Judge J. A. Allen of Tulare. Thus far, there has been no violence.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 15 —UP— Union leaders claimed 500 pear pickers were on strike today in Santa Clara county orchards, demanding 30 cents an hour wages and an eight hour day. Their present pay scale is 20 cents an hour. No violence was reported.

Girl Slain In Boat By Army Flier

SHEERNESS (Kent, Eng.,) Aug. 15—One of the strangest tragedies in British military annals occurred today when a London girl, Jean Chesterton, 17, who was rowing in a boat with her sister off Leysdown Beach, was shot dead by a machine gunner in a Royal Air Force auxiliary plane.

The gunner mistook her boat for a target.

The girls were a quarter of a mile from the shore searching for a child's ball which had floated out from the beach.

Five planes roared overhead and began shooting at a string of buoys. One of the gunners, mistaking the boat for a buoy, killed the girl instantly. The sister rowed frantically to shore.

The planes were manned by territorials—volunteers — on annual training.

W. E. Peterson Dies Suddenly At Home Here

Apparently recovered from a recent illness, William Elmer Peterson prominent Richmond man, succumbed suddenly yesterday afternoon.

He had suffered a paralytic stroke about a month and a half ago and had been confined to his bed for some time. Seemingly convalescent he ventured downtown yesterday afternoon.

Later he complained of a head ache and within a short time passed away at his home, 452 Carlston avenue, Mira Vista.

He was born in Red Bluff 43 years ago and had come to Richmond 21 years ago to take a position with the Standard Oil company. He was a clerk in the main office at the time of his death.

He leaves his wife, Viola Lynch Peterson, principal of the Washington grammar school two sisters, Mrs. Lolita De Rochor of Oakland and Mrs. Jean McCullum of Los Angeles, and a brother, Guy Peterson of Oakland.

He was a member of Harbor lodge, F. and A. M. and had served as its secretary for some time.

The remains are at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel where funeral services are tentatively set for Thursday afternoon. Harbor lodge officers will be in charge.

Brentwood to be Convention Scene Of District Vets

Brentwood will be the scene of the Fifth District convention, Veterans of Foreign Wars, on Sunday, according to announcement at the county council meeting held in Memorial hall Tuesday evening.

Honor post of Richmond was host for the session.

The Fifth District is comprised of 21 posts and approximately 17 auxiliaries in the counties of Contra Costa and Alameda. Roy Poulson, commander of the district, will preside.

Beginning at one o'clock p. m. the convention will include a ball game scheduled for two o'clock. The Richmond post baseball team will play.

At seven in the evening there will be a parade in which colors, standards, drill and degree teams and drum and bugle corps from all posts and auxiliaries in the district will participate.

Four silver cups will be awarded in drill team competition.

A dance will also begin at seven o'clock and fine music has been arranged for the event.

Talks are expected from prominent veterans in all districts including Past District Commander Hall of Alameda.

A. A. Hughes presided over a short business meeting of Honor post. National and department communications were read and then the hall was turned over to the county council.

Morris Hoffman of Martinez presided and a good deal of important business was transacted.

Refreshments were served by the host veterans.

Negro Faces Trial On Murder Charge

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 15 —UP— Norman Davis, negro, went on trial here today charged with the murder of James Berry, 20.

Berry was stabbed to death in an itinerants' camp near here.

MAIL BIDS ASKED

CROCKETT, Aug. 15—Acting on instruction received from Washington, D. C., Postmater W. M. Laidlaw today issued a call for bids for delivering mail between the local postoffice and the railroad station. Sealed bids for the contract will be accepted until August 20.

Lawyer Says Realty Man Stole Wife

SAN FRANCISCO. Aug. 15. — Fred C. Boeckmann, prominent San Francisco real estate man, was made defendant in a $150,000 alienation of affection suit filed in the local court late today by James P. Sweeney, San Francisco attorney.

Friends 33 Years

A friendship of 33 years' standing between the two men has been broken by the romance between Mrs. Sweeney and Boeckmann. Sweeney said in his complaint.

For the past 18 months the attorney said he had been deprived of his wife's company and association.

He charged that Boeckmann had assumed a "husband-like attitude" to Mrs. Sweeney and a "parental disposition' toward the boy.

Sweeney also sets forth that his former friend now has the management of personal property in Mrs. Sweeneys possession turned over to her by Sweeney when he was seriously ill in a hospital.

Charges Luring Away

While he was convalescing, he says, Boeckmann and his wife went for walks and auto rides and that she was gradually lured away from him.

Sweeney cites a long list of instances of association between the former friend and his wife, and charges that since his wife left him the two have been in "daily contact."

Boeckmann is well known in real estate circles, and Sweeney is equally prominent in legal circles. He was associated with the famous Oschner $10,000,000 will estate contest case, recently a major issue in the courts.

Assassination Of U. S. Envoys Was Jap's Plan

TOKIO, Aug. 16 (Wednesday)—UP— The American ambassador and consul general here were included in the list of proposed victims in the unsuccessful plot to overthrow the government in May, 1932, according to testimony today at the trial of 10 navy officers accused of inciting a rebellion which caused the assassination of Premier Inukai.

Sub-Lieutenant Kameshiro Ita, one of the defendants, testified that the conspirators planned to kill Arthur Garrel, consul general, and urged Sub-Lieutenant Haruo Oba to kill Joseph Clark Grew, American ambassador, the same night the premier was murdered.

The contemplated assassination of the two American officials was not attempted, however.

The plot which resulted in the death of Premier Inukai was devised to upset the government to such an extent that martial law would be declared.

Plans to include the Americans were merely part of the terriorist campaign which the plot leaders hoped to incite, Lieutenant Ito declared.

Premier Inukai was killed May 15, 1932, by groups of reactionaries who shot their way into the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police board, attacked electric transformer stations to throw the city into darkness, and bombed the residence of the lord keeper of the privy seal.

Jurymens' Pay Checks Held Back

MARTINEZ, Aug. 15—The legality of paying members of the Grand Jury for their work on committees was a question that was brought up today before the work of that body came to a close, and as a result all warrants have been held up by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie, until the written report of Attorney General U. S. Webb has been received.

The question was raised by Geo. Lee, a member of the jury from Richmond. District Attorney James F. Hoey, was questioned about the matter, and he immediately got in touch with the state officials over the telephone.

That official stated that according to the 1917 ruling it was illegal for Grand Jury members to accept pay for work on committees, that they should be paid only for the time of regular sessions.

According to this ruling, thousands of dollars have been paid members of former Grand Juries since 1917, and it is likely that suits will be brought for the recovery of the illegally paid money.

As the statute of limitations has run against most of it, only such payments in the past four years can be recovered.

Walter Starr Jr. Object of Search In High Sierras

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15—UP— Three counties in the high sierras were searched today for some trace of Walter A. Starr, Jr., attorney and mountain climber, reported missing since July 29.

It was feared he met with some mishap when he failed to keep an appointment at Glacier lodge several days after he left here July 29 to climb peaks near Mt. Whitney.

His automobile was found at Agnew Meadows on the eastern side of the Sierras. Other searchers found remains of a camp he may have established far north of Lake Independence.

Expert trackers and volunteers, aided by Inyo and Tuolumne county authorities, were aiding in the search.

COUNTY TO CLEAN OUT ALL JOINTS

A sheriff's posse, led by J. M. Joseph, against visited the county line sector last night.

Gambling joints scheduled for raids were found closed and dark, Joseph stated. He believes the underworld "grapevine" had given out tips on the raiding party.

Three slot machines were confiscated in places near Martin, however the deputy sheriff reported.

Beginning a campaign "to wipe out all vice in Contra Costa county" sheriff's officers yesterday descended on establishments in this vicinity in what they term the opening of a "marathon" with gamblers and other lawbreakers.

District Attorney James F. Hoey announced last evening that he had issued orders for raiding parties "every day until the last of the illegal practices are killed."

Race is On

"These places have been closed before — and reopen immediately. We'll close them and if they start again, we'll close them again.

"We'll raid them every day if necessary. It will be rather a marathon between the officers and the lawbreakers."

Yesterday morning about 1' o'clock Deputy Sheriffs Rube McNamara and J. M. Joseph entered six places located outside Richmond.

They were: the "Josh" House in El Cerrito near the Hutchinson quarry; a san Pablo hotel on Market street; a San Pablo cafe on Alvarado street; the Acme club on Panhandle boulevard two blocks from San Pablo avenue; the Ninty club, one block from San Pablo on Panhandle boulevard; and the 101 club on Mosher lane, El Cerrito.

Machines Taken

Five slot machines were confiscated. Two were taken from one place and none were found in the Acme and the Ninety club.

Warnings were given persons on the various premises that the establishments would be closed and, if necessary "wrecked," if gambling in any form was discovered in later raids.

No arrests were made during the morning and no patrons were found in any of the places.

Auto Runs Wild With Four Dead People as Cargo

MALVERNE, Ark., Aug. 15.—UP —An automobile bearing four dead persons and a live child ran wild along the Little Rock higsway nine miles north of here today.

Passing motorists made the gruesome discovery after the machine left the road and crashed into a fence.

A man, a woman and two children sat upright, all dead. Indications were that they had been poisoned.

The bodies were identified as those of Allen Cooley, his wife, Ethel, and their two sons, Clement and Clyde. The family was said to be from Nashville, Tennessee.

Night Classes to Open Here Tonite

The local night school classes will open this evening at seven o'clock for the fall term.

The classes will be held each Tuesday and Thursday night from seven to nine under the direction of the night school staff.

Mrs. Emily Axtell is head of the department which features an English class for foreigners and naturalization classes.

STARTLING FACTS ARE REVEALED IN FINAL CHECK UP

The famous Baldwin 1932-33 Grand jury came to an end about six o'clock last evening, when that august body, which has been doing Trojan work for the past year, filed its final report with Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie at Martinez and was discharged.

Never before in the history of the county, has there been a Grand Jury which has accomplished such results.

True, the cost of the work of the body was more expensive than previous inquisitorial bodies, but when you figure that they have effected a savings on a year's basis of $269,064, and cleaned up a festering sore in the county, which brought forth indictments and the conviction of one person and the pleading guilty of another, the real cost was actually very small.

Criminal Work

In connection with the final report, were the reports of the expert, C. J. Rambo, who uncovered the criminal work that had been going on in the office of the superintendent of schools, and ten detailed reports of committees on the different activities of the county, in which recommendations had been made which were carried out.

The report shows that the expenses of the Grand Jury were $9,680.79, segregated as follows:

General county audit $900, audit on tax rolls $490, school store audit $4,215, student body funds audit $870, reporters fees, $352.74, summons $35.74, supplies and postage $35, telephone $47, per diem of jurors $1,536, mileage of jurors $1,236.

Expenses Justified

The report continues "while the expenses exceeds the previous grand jury by $5,500, we believe they are justified by the economies effected through salary, fees and mileage rate adjustments commensurate with present day conditions, and by having brought offenders to trial and having terminated heavy leakage of funds, all to the full financial benefit of the county."

The report sets forth that through the enactment of a new county government act, annual savings of $67,000 were effeced, and through the supervisors an additional saving of $67,000, making a total saving yearly of $134,000.

Leakages Stopped

Leakages that were stopped are shown by the report to be as follows:

School store	$ 29,919
Salaries paid without authorization of law	5,832
Salaries of questionable value on which cut backs were paid	4,040
By transfering county accounts to the purchasing agent, and eliminating salaries	3,000
Estimated saving on prices paid by school dept.	15,000
Return of overpaid Spalding account	2,964
Return to unapportioned high school fund, money unlawfully transferred to school store	19,500
Restitution of salary "cut backs"	2,900
Returns from bonding company on account of the irregularities of W. H. Hanlon	4,131
Total leakages stopped	$123,646

Losses sustained through the county treasurers office as shown by the report total $11,418, and these are set forth as follows:

Stoppage of fees unlawfully taken in the past ten years, representing 1 percent of the funds deposited with the county treasurer by the Public Administrator $3,572

Returns from bonding company on account of payments to W. L. Wales on illegally endorsed checks $7,846

Huge Saving

The total of all of these savings, the stopping of illegal payments, and the plugging up of leakages, amounts to the sum of $269,064.

Concluding the report, the Jury makes recommendations as follows:

1.—The unit road plan.
2.—A new administration for the county hospital.
3.—The purchase of food for prisoners by the purchasing agent.
4.—Consolidation of townships.

We Told Story

Much of the work that was accomplished by the Grand Jury during the past year has been previously published by the Record-Herald, such as the theft of thousand of dollars from the county school revolving fund by the late W. H. Hanlon and his associates, the indictments that were brought, the conviction and sentencing to states prison of E. L. Orcutt, school storekeeper, the indictment of W. L. Wales, his trial and later entering court and pleading guilty, but asking for probation, which is now pending.

The return of portions of salaries that were paid by Hanlon to parties that it is claimed performed practically no services for the compensation, the reductions in county salaries, the decrease in the county mileage rate to six and a half cents, and the reduction of the allowance to the sheriff for feeding prisoners from thirty-seven and a half cents a day to thirty cents.

White Girl Will Marry Filipino; Just Beats Law

Two interesting angles of this serious business of getting married arose in Martinez yesterday.

Two young couples encountered difficulties when they appeared to apply for licenses in the county clerk's office.

Emiliano Panela, 23, Filipino farmer of Brentwood, and Balbina Ribeira 16, Oakley white girl, had to hurry to give notice of intention before the new state law went into effect.

The law which prohibits the marriage of Malays and whites goes into effect the last of the week and yesterday was the final chance to file application.

Eddie Mancebo, 17, of Oakland appeared in the company of his mother, and his bride-elect, Miss Edna McCallum, 18, also of Oakland, and found he was still too young to become a benedict.

He went to superior court with his mother, however, and obtained Judge T. D. Johnston's permission for the marriage.

THREE DRAWS MARK BOUTS AT EL CERRITO

Four spectacular events ending in threw draws and a decision were witnessed last evening by patrons of the El Cerrito Athletic club.

In the main event of the evening "Bulldog" Ted Cox bested Ed Hellwig with two throws out of three. In the first fall, however, Hellwig suffered an injury to his back and went down the second time in less than a minute.

It took Scarberry 31 minutes to throw Cyclone Steve Jochums of Berkeley for the first time. Jochums retaliated by throwing Scarberry in 9 minutes and 45 seconds. The specified hour for the bout elapsed and it was termed a draw.

Mike Dolan of Richmond battled with his arch enemy, Sailor Juul, in a bout that ended even. There was a 30-minute time limit on this and a one throw decision, unused.

Speaking Of Sports

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 15. UP—Frank Carideo, former Notre Dame quarterback, who now is head coach at Missouri univerity, wants players on his football team who can star in the classroom as well as on the gridiron.

Carideo, seeking to install the Knute Rockne system here, will start soon to build his 1933 eleven with the hope that the team can avenge the overwhelming defeats it suffered last year, his first season as a head coach.

Brains Will Be Basis

"Brains will be the basis of this year's team," Carideo said. "It takes brains to make a winner. If a football player can't, or won'e, make his grades in the classroom it's a safe bet that he won't be alert on the gridiron.

"No man can be a brilliant star on the athletic field and then forget he has brains when he studies or steps into the classroom."

His Own Record Good

In demanding that his players stress their scholastic activities, Carideo is able to point to his own record.

He graduated from Notre Dame with high scholastic honors, almost as high as the record he compiled on the football field while calling signals for Rockne's great teams.

The "Fighting Irish" did not lose a game under his able field generalship.

Two Policemen Not Much Help In Emergency

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15— The desk sergeant at the police station wheeled on two of his huskiest policemen.

"Scram to 5342 Second avenue," he barked, "and don't stop to pick daisies. There's a disturbance there."

"Send us a police surgeon," chorused his two husky patrolmen into the mouthpiece.

The disturbance was a disturbance, but not that kind. It was a 10½-pound boy born to Mrs. Enda Hanson.

Raskob Declares Future Looks Bright

DEL MONTE, Aug. 15.— "The future has never looked brighter."

This was the brief comment John J. Raskob, chairman of the board of General Motors and financial supporter of the Democratic party, made last night as he departed from Del Monte on his way south.

Raskob indicated his full support of President Roosevelt's recovery program. He stressed that wherever he had spoken with industrial and financial leaders they all felt optimistic toward the future.

MISSING DEER CASE CLEARED

COLUSA, Aug. 15—Mystery of the disappearance of a confiscated deer carcass placed in the refrigeration room of a Maxwell meat market by Game Warden Lee Atkinson was cleared up today when S. J. Sarpenter, captain of the state fish and game patrol in this district, swore to a complaint charging his own nephew, Bryan Carpenter, 35, of Maxwell, with petty theft for having allegedly removed the deer meat from the storage room.

Carpenter, who stood trial here two years ago on a drunk driving charge, is at liberty under $250 bond, after being taken before Judge Ben R. Ragain by his uncle Saturday morning.

The deer meat has not been returned and it is presumed that it proved a tasty dish for a dozen or more Maxwell residents.

WASHINGTON HOLDS LEAD IN AMERICAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—UP — Washington today retained its five and a half game American league lead over the New York Yankees by beating the Chicago White Sox 5 to 1.

Alvin Crowder registered his 19th victory of the season when he held the Chisox to nine hits and one run. The Senators likewise collected nine off Jones and Heving but bunched some of them for three runs in the sixth and two in the eighth. Crowder had a perfect day at bat with a double and two singles.

Cleveland shared fourth place with Detroit when the Indians lost to Philadelphia 8 to 7 and the Tigers bowed to Boston 5 to 3.

Lots of Errors

Despite erratic fielding by his Philadelphia mates, resulting in four errors, Lefty Grove held the Indians to nine hits, while the Athletics collected 14 off Wes Ferrell, ace of the Cleveland staff.

Rog Cramer of the Athletics made a homer in the first and Joe Vosmik of the Indians contributed a four bagger in the ninth. Cramer led the A's attack with four hits in five tries.

Rallying for four runs in the last two innings, Boston beat the Tigers, although each club made nine hits. Henry Johnson pitched for the Redsox against Fred Marberry who weakened in the eighth when the Sox made three runs.

Good Hitting

Irving Fox led the Tigers at bat with a homer and a double, and Bob Johnson made two hits for the Sox.

The second place Yankees kept pace with Washington by beating St. Louis, 8 to 5, aided by a five run rally in the fourth. Babe Ruth, who benched himself because he needed a rest, was a pinch hitter in the eighth and made a double, scoring Bill Dickey. The Yanks collected 10 hits of Knott, Herbert, McDonald, Stiles and Gray, but bunched them more effectively than the Browns did the 12 they made off Allen and Pennock.

Strangely enough, two former managers of the Chicago Cubs of the National league met in this contest. Joe McCarthy of the Yanks and Rogers Hornsby of the Browns.

Cardinals Advance

The St. Louis Cardinals today advanced to within one and a half games of the Chicago Cubs, who occupy third place in the National league standing by trouncing the Phillies 5 to 1.

Wild Bill Hallahan limited the Phils to six hits, while the Cards collected 11 off Hansen and Pearce. Pepper Martin led the St. Louis attack with a double and two singles in five tries.

Chicago was shaded by Boston, 2 to 1, although the Cubs outhit the Braves 10 to 5. The Braves bunched some of their five safeties off Guy Bush for a tally in the second and another in the ninth, the latter resulting from singles by Jordan and Berger and a double by Moore. Ben Cantwell gave the Cubs 10 hits, but permitted only one tally in the fourth.

They were the only National league games scheduled.

Phanton Horsegirl

IDENTITY of the "phantom horsegirl," who made a brief appearance in Yosemite valley long enough to win first place in the Grizzly Club Rodeo and then disappeared has been learned. She's Mildred Frazier, 15, of Montebello.

BAY CRAFT TO HONOR FLEET WITH PAGEANT

OAKLAND, Aug. 15 — Every craft in San Francisco bay will be exhibited Thursday when, in a welcome to the Navy and celebration of Hail an acquatic pageant will be held.

The "line of march" for the parade will be more than three miles long, and present indications are that more than 200 craft of all kinds including fishermen's barges pleasure boats big yachts, barges cutters, tugs, fireboats, and commercial vessels will take part, according to officials in charge.

Prizes Offered

With flags flying, the maritime parade will file past the 39 ships of the battle fleet. Prizes will be given for the best decorated boats in each class.

Other events of the day will include the annual cutter races for Navy crews, sponsored by the Olympic Club, a land parade in San Francisco, and entertainment of various sorts for the sailors.

Calls Exchanged

This morning civic, military and naval dignitaries exchanged official calls, and this afternoon there was to be a reception for officers at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

Tonight an all-Navy boxing show will be held at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Tomorrow's program for the Navy will include a luncheon at the University Club, San Francisco, and various receptions and athletic events.

CITIZENS MEET TODAY TO TALK OVER THE NRA

More than 100 Richmond community leaders will assemble at the initial meeting today at which an organization will be created to foster and develop the spirit of the NRA in this city, according to announcement by P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber of commerce.

The meeting will be held at noon at the Hotel Carquinez with Sanford as chairman and with the chamber sponsoring the initial gathering, but with the object of setting up an entirely new city-wide group to handle the campaign.

Sanford will seek preliminary action at the meeting looking toward the selection of a leader and naming of working committees. These will set to work at once following the meeting to organize the entire community, and later a mass meeting will be held to launch the movement among the entire population of the city.

The chamber has received complete plans and specifications of the campaign from the national headquarters at Washington, and it is anticipated that the Richmond movement will be along lines similar to those followed throughout the country. It will involve an intensive publicity effort and short talks by a group of picked speakers, as was done during the Liberty Loan campaigns of the World War.

Many of the same workers who enrolled at that time are expected to enlist in the 1933 peace-time campaign against depression.

Sanford estimates that 75 community leaders will attend the meeting.

Ickes Smiles As Phone Call Is Not Charged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—UP—Secretary of Interior Ickes demonstrated today how he is watching the pennies as administrator of the $3,300,000,000 public works fund.

Ickes sent doormen to locate Assistant Secretary Oscar L. Chapman when Chapman failed to arrive at the public works board meeting on time.

One of the searchers returned and reported Chapman was talking by telephone with someone in San Francisco. Ickes' eyes had a worried look.

"Go back and find out who's paying the call" he ordered the doorman.

Ickes' smile returned when the doorman came back and said the call was paid for in San Francisco.

BURGLARS GET $200,000 DOPE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15—UP—Knocking the combination off a safe in the drug manufacturing plant of Wyeth & Co., at 27 Minna street, burglars stole 1,250,000 tablets of morphine, worth $200,000 at underworld prices, police reported today.

The burglary is believed to have been perpetrated by thugs who obtained a tip on the huge consignment of tablets which were received at the plant from its eastern headquarters recently.

The burglars entered the plant after climbing a drain pipe into a second floor loft.

KIN TO ATTEND LAMSON TRIAL

SAN JOSE, Aug. 15 Frank C. Thorpe, brother of Allene Thorpe Lamson, "bathtub murder" victim, is expected here within the next few days to attend the murder trial of David A. Lamson, scheduled to open Monday.

Thorpe's home is in Lamar, Mo., but he spent some time here, during the early stages of the investigation of his sister's death. He has expressed himself as convinced of his brother-in-law's guilt.

Spectators will be barred from the trial during the first two days, it was announced, in order to accommodate the jury venire of 100 persons.

Seats are available in the court room for only 115 persons, it was pointed out. Press representatives will be admitted only by cards by Sheriff W. J. Emig on orders of Superior Judge R. R. Syer.

Possibility of a temporary shift in judges when the trial opens was seen today. Judge Syer is engaged in the murder trial of Norman Davis, Negro, but is expected to finish hearing this case before Monday.

Otherwise, it was announced, Judge W. F. James may be called upon to preside during the selection of the Lamson jury.

Police Search For Gun That Killed Doctor

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 15—UP—A .38-caliber revolver, believed to have been stolen from Dr. James I. Gaines and used to murder the prominent Spokane sanipractic physician, was sought by police tonight.

One of three bullets fired at Dr. Gaines by an unknown assailant was found in his right coat pocket, and identified as used in a gun similar to one owned by the physician.

Search of Dr. Gaines' home and office failed to reveal trace of the gun, and two police officers were sent to Coeur D'Alene to search the doctor's speedboat.

Dr. Gaines was shot down early today when he reached his home. Police said the murdered apparently had lain in wait for him. One bullet entered his heart and another struck the doctor in the left shoulder.

Police also were checking a report that Dr. Gaines was seen with a woman companion in a cafe only twenty minutes before the shooting.

Mrs. Gaines said her husband had told her that he was going to Coeur D'Alene Monday and presumed that he had done so. She said she was not very familiar with her husband's habits, but had no reason to be suspicious or jealous.

Mrs. Gaines heard the shots this morning and reached the body of her husband before he died.

Pretzel Twisters tangle Up Traffic

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—The pretzel twisters got all tangled up.

The American Cone and Pretzel company, employing 200 men, advertised for 25 more experienced twisters for the night shift. Eight hundred men are estimated to have answered the ad, and none wanted to go home unhired.

George Mull, night manager, called police who untangled the pretzel twisters sufficiently for traffic to weave through their ranks.

CONTRA COSTA GETS $92,500 FOR HIGHWAYS

Fifty nine million dollars is to be spent by the Department of Public Works during this biennium upon highway construction and maintenance.

The budget just made public by the highway commission, includes the sum of $34,352,438 in allocations for new construction or improvement of present highways.

Based upon motor vehicle registration and the need for the projects as they affect the state highway system as a whole, $92,500 has been allotted to Contra Costa county.

The balance of the budget, roughly $25,000,000, is to be spent:

1. On maintenance of the highway system throughout the entire state.

2. On improvement and upkeep of streets in cities which are connecting links for state highways.

3. In maintaining 800 miles of county roads which go into the state system August 22.

Fifty-two counties of the 58 in the state have been allocated money for work.

More than $10,000,000 worth of work will begin in October and additional projects will be launched thereafter as fast as possible. This policy to speed up work was announced today by Earl Lee Kelly, director of the Department of Public Works. He said:

"I have received orders from Governor James Rolph Jr. to proceed with construction work at the earliest possible moment, since it is the Governor's desire to aid in the nation's recovery by putting the maximum number of men to work as quickly as feasible."

Contra Costa county's allocation of $92,500 embraces two projects. The first is for the paving of 1.1 miles of highway along portions of the road between San Pablo and Crockett at a cost of $42,500.

$50,000 is allocated as this county's share of the construction of the new Oakland tunnel to replace the narrow, antiquated structure which now proves a bottle-neck to the heavy traffic passing through it. Not only this county but Alameda county also is granted $50,000 to this work as part of the State's contribution to the co-operative highway district formed to build the new tunnel.

This county's neighbor to the east, San Joaquin, is voted $100,000 for grading and surfacing portions of the Lodi to Rio Visea road.

To the south Alameda county receives the third largest allotment of funds in the State, being exceeded only by Los Angeles with $3,643,000, and San Francisco county with $2,250,000. Alameda's share, which is $2,203,770 will be expended on nine projects.

Of course the largest sum, $1,650,000 is for the purchase of rights of way and the grading and paving of the approaches to the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

Woman Slain and Body Lashed to Tree

DOVER, N. J., Aug. 15—Miss Anna Ulm, 45-year-old summer resident of Mount Arlington, and secretary to a New York chiropractor, was beaten to death Sunday and her body lashed to a tree trunk, police said today.

The victim had been struck a heavy blow which crushed her skull. There was also a small puncture of the skull behind the left ear. Robbery apparently was not the motive, as two costly diamond rings on Miss Ulm's fingers were not removed.

Dr. Morris Collins and Dr. Frank Bird, who performed the autopsy, said there was no evidence of a criminal attack.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN HOME

MODESTO, Aug. 15—John S. Brazil, 54, ranch manager, trapped in bed during a mysterious fire at his home near Modesto, was burned to death as he slept.

Brazil's wife and their six children were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Serrera, a mile distant. Mrs. Brazil collapsed when she returned with the children and learned of the tragedy.

The flames destroyed the six-room home.

Brazil had retired at 6 o'clock, his wife told Sheriff Grat Hogin, and she left with the children for the Serrera home.

At 10 p. m. neighbors saw flames shooting from windows and roof of the Brazil dwelling.

The fire consumed the home rapidly, while the neighbors stood by helplessly. There was no water to fight the flames.

When Hogin and Coroner George Sovern enter the burned home at midnight, they found Brazil's charred body in his bed. The bed had fallen into the basement.

Authorities were unable to determine how the flames started.

Know Your Firms

Community Stores Serve You Better

In making this review, we have in the past four months given you an idea of those local concerns whom we know to be reliable, efficient and courteous to the buying public, these firms have grown with Richmond due to the fact that they appreciate the patronage extended them and they are thus continuing to merit your trade.

The neighborhood Grocery Store is of much importance to our residents, because it is convenient to the residential section. Shoppers and busy housewives do not have to lose time by going down town, and yet the prices at these community stores are very favorable.

The Mira Vista Grocery Store, which is conveniently located at 4610 Barrett avenue, here in Richmond is serving the public in a high manner, especially those residents of the east side find that it answers a problem of convenience. This store is owned and managed by David Vallerga.

A few years ago, when we thought of food and low prices we thought that only the so-called chain stores could offer us the bargains. Our reason for this conclusion were undoubtedly not based on trading at the independent community home owned stores. Facts have since proven that the locally owned, locally managed independent stores have just a good quality products at the sam prices that can be secured i chain stores.

The Mira Vista grocery is a independent store, owned an managed by a local man who ha the interest of his city and community at heart, he pays loca taxes. Mr. Vallerga is vitally interested in all civic movement to better our city and county.

Anything and everything tha you would expect to find in a well stocked grocery store, yo will always find at the Mira Vista fancy and staple groceries an food items that are used and needed every day in the home.

In this edition of Know You Business Firms we believe tha shoppers in Richmond and especially those who reside on the East Side will always find quality, good service and reasonable prices at the Mira Vista grocery store. Let us patronize locally owned and managed concerns.

Suit Asks Refund On Bridge Stock

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 15—Early attention of Superior Court on a hearing to force refund of $1 a share on 119,000 shares of American Toll Bridge Company stock was indicated when attorneys representing 105 plaintiffs filed a motion asking that a trial date be set for the suit. Hearing on the motion is expected August 28.

The 105 stockholders assert that they purchased stock for $2 a share with the understanding that $1 would be refunded. The complaint points out that many other stockholders are interested.

The motion was filed by Morgan A. Sanborn of San Francisco, attorney for the 105 stockholders.

ALL STAR CAST IN FILM DRAMA ON FOX SCREEN

"The Stranger's Return" one of the finest pictures of the month, will open at the Fox theater today.

It is a Metro Goldwyn Mayer picturization of the popular Phil Strong novel of rural life. A large cast of stars include Miriam Hopkins, Fanchot Tone, Lionel Barrymore, Stuart Erwin, Mary Carlisle and Tad Alexander.

Miss Hopkins is given the best opportunity of her career in her role of the city girl who goes to her grandfather's farm and finds there peace and contentment that she could not find in the city.

Fanchot Tone has a leading role as a collector-bred farmer with whom the city girl falls in love. Tone was a New York stage success and has proven himself popular in his first pictures "Gabriel Over the White House," "Today We Live."

Stuart Erwin finds a featured spot as Simon, Tad Alexander, as the boy and Mary Carlisle plays the role of Thelma. King Vidor is director.

Added Attractions

"Roadhouse Queen" a roaring two reel Mack Sennett comedy and the Fox talking news, are added subjects on the program with the Stone picture.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD UP—Kissing a girl in a motion picture nowadays is likely to be a hazardous undertaking, Frederic March believes.

Cinema flirtations have changed radically in the last few years. "Mushy" love scenes have disappeared forever, and an actor needs must think twice before he whispers a tender "I love you" in the heroine's ear.

March's observations, gathered from his romantic characterizations on the screen, have the weight of authority behind them.

He is of the opinion that talking pictures have ushered in a new ear of sincerity in Hollywood. Many of the things accepted in silent pictures are not tolerated on the audible screen.

"This is especially true of love scenes," he declares. "In a silent film an actor might go off into the wildest sort of romantic flights waxing as eloquent as a moonstruck poet. But let him try it today and his effort would be laughed at.

"The reason as I see it, is that sound and dialogue have brought a terrific realism to the silver sheet. Modern audiences demand that the things they see in a motion picture be true to life.

"I have seen love scenes absolutely ruined when people in the audience laughed because the leading man said 'I love you' with too flowery an inflection in his voice.

"With frankness the rule of the day, acting has become a far more pleasant task that it was in the merry old days of 'blah.' When we wall in front of a camera now, we feel like human beings instead of like a lot of ineffectual, inhuman pupets."

Heat Kills Two In Valley Towns

FRESNO, Aug. 15—High temperatures in the San Joaquin valley accounted for two more deaths today.

Mrs. Philena Amanda Rhodes Pierce, 53, of San Francisco was overcome during an autobile ride in the Yosemite valley. She died a short time later.

An unidentified Mexican, taken from a stage enroute from San Francisco to Los Angeles, died from heat prostration at Tulare.

Heat deaths for the season total 12.

Unwed Father Hopes to Get Speedy Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15 UP—Frank Fabian Jr., unmarried father who killed his distigured infant daughter, wants to plead guilty to whatever charge is placed against him, and get it over with quickly.

The 21-year-old gymnastic teacher confessed killing his daughter because he wanted "to spare her future humiliation." He said he thought he was doing his duty.

Police found the infant's body in a zipper bag hidden under the Fabian house.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—A startling innovation from the World's Fair in Chicago has arrived in New York, a brand new form of culture. Would-be artists are invited to attend "art classes" featuring live models, and never before did we realize what a tremendous amount of hopeful artists there are knocking around Broadway. The street is infested with them.

A swarthy complexioned Latin sidled up to us on Broadway and handed us an advertising circular reading as follows:

"The White Way Sensation! Twenty-five cents.

"Learn to draw from live models. Art instruction for the masses. All materials furnished. School is open to midnight. Bring your friends.

Eyes Busier Than Pencils

The "studio" turned out to be an ex hoochie-koochie concession. At the door an attendant handed each and every artist a smock, explaining of course, that the smock was to be worn over the suit. Truck drivers, taxi drivers, ditch diggers, traveling salesmen, school teachers on the loose, and the rest of the class climbed clumsily into the smocks. They were seated at drawing boards, overhead lights were dimmed, and the curtain opened exposed a model seated on a dais. She looked like a fugitive from a Nudist camp, but she served the purpose.

Twenty minutes later the attendant announced, "That's all, gents. How did you like it?"

We lingered behind a few moments and glanced quickly over the drawing boards. One carried an amateurish imitation of Mickey Mouse, another a puerile drawing of a horse and a dog. Most of them, however, were just as the "artists" had found them spotless and untouched.

Beating the Heat

Over a pair of frosted juleps the other night we were discussing this, that and the other things with Sam Robbins, the ork leader, when the talk suddenly shifted to the weath. It seems that it's harder to keep the weather out of a conversation in summertime thas it is to keep One-Eyed Connelly out of a newspaper office on pay day.

"Let's have another, Sam," we said. "No sense in going home. Too hot to sleep. Stick around."

"That's where you're wrong" answered Sam, "just because the temperature is 100 degrees you imagine it's too hot to sleep. Obviously you don't realize the power of mind over matter. Did I ever tell you about our visit to Haiti?"

No, he hadn't.

"I had the orchestra down in Bermuda a few years ago at the height of the summer season. One night a gentleman who introduced himself as a millionaire plantation owner from Haiti rose from his table and approched me with a proposition.

"'Young man,' he said, 'I enjoy your music. I'll pay you $1,000 if you'll bring your band to Haiti with me. I'll ferry you over in my yacht.'

When, after the voyage, Robbins and his boys arrived at the Haitian plantation, the main house was packed with visitors, and the musicians were compelled to sleep in the servants' quarters. Would they mind? Of course not. They were tired. The electric plant for the quarters was out of commission, but they could get along. Of course.

Six of the boys slept in one room or rather they tried to sleep. Temperature and humidity soared high. After fifteen minutes of fitful tossing one of the boys yelled, "Please Somebody open a window. There isn't a window open in the whole room."

But the blackness of the room prevented them from discovering the catch.'

"Aw, throw a shoe through the glass. Quit fooling around. Break the darned thing."

There was a crash of glass. Ah! The boys breathed easier. That was better.

In a few minutes all were sound asleep.

The next morning they awoke to find all the windows closed, all of them. It looked mysterious, and spooky, but the mystery didn't go long unsolved.

Over in a corner of the room was the answer.

The fellow had thrown his shoe through the glass door of the book case.

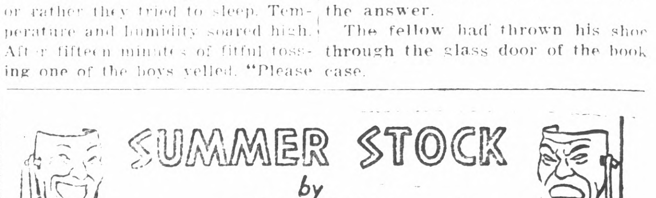
Lightning Starts Fires in Sierras

FRESNO, Aug. 15—UP—High temperatures added to the fire hazard today as crews combatted 11 blazes sweeping along a 60-mile front in the Sierras.

Lightning started most of the fires, but accompaning showers, scattered over the mountains, had little effect on the blazes.



SUMMER STOCK

by LOIS BULL

© 1933 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Eda Lou Smith, a society girl, joins a summer stock company being formed by two old-time troupers, John Hayne, Boothe and his wife, Eleanora Hardwicke. She helps to finance it. Another member of the group is Tad Emerson, a young actor and budding playwright. Bob Coe, an old friend of Eda Lou's, asks her to try to get a place in the company for a show girl named Imogene Lucian. Imogene surprises everyone in her try-out. When Eda Lou takes her home to lunch, Imogene confides to her that she wants to learn how to be Bob's "kind of girl," and Eda Lou gives her some helpful advice.

CHAPTER XIII

AT TEA that day, everyone noticed a definite change in Imogene. Perhaps it was the clothes. Eda Lou saw the pleased look in Bob's eyes, his grateful nod to her. All of the other girl's hard-boiled defense mechanism had dropped away from her, assured as she was that now she was learning to be "Bob's kind."

"Remember, Imogene," Eda Lou had said, "everybody is 'the same kind' underneath. Only sometimes people aren't clever enough to see beneath superficialities. That's why appearances become so important. You can appear to be any kind you want to be, provided you try hard enough. It's what's underneath that's important. And you'll take underneath."

THE DECISION to accept Imogene as one of the company had been unanimous. Now that that was settled, it was a matter of only a few days before rehearsals of the first play would begin.

The season would be twenty weeks; a pair of season seats sold for $100. Assured now that Imogene would be in the company, Bob Coe became definitely interested. At the end of the first week of ticket-selling, one hundred pairs had been disposed of. At least, there would be two hundred present on opening night.

The list of patrons and patronesses was becoming daily more formidable. Rehearsals were progressing famously. The day that four truck-loads of second-hand scenery arrived, the company was in radiant spirits. A friend of Bob's had been located who swore that within forty-eight hours, he could turn any old set into something not even the most inveterate play-goer would recognize.

"This isn't going to be any nickel and dime production," Tad said enthusiastically four days before the opening. "This is going to be the most dignified, the swellest outfit on Long Island. Plenty of swank and all that." This had been his response to the suggestion that maybe they'd better drop the prices on the balcony seats. "No!" he insisted. "Make this crowd think they've got to pay to get in, and they'll flock to see us."

"But our money's going awfully fast, Tad," Eleanora said. "It does seem to me that we could have used ordinary glazed paper for the programs instead of that expensive rag stock. A program's only a program, after all."

"But if John Doe takes home his program and somebody sees it kicking around the house, who'd look at glazed white paper? That's why programs get thrown away. Now, this heavy buff cream, with that art work on it—that's going to attract attention!"

FOR THEIR opening bill, they had chosen a new play by a first-rate playwright. His fee for giving it to them for a try-out week had been staggering. It was a play he had been trying to sell for five years. Nobody on Broadway would take a chance with it. Why shouldn't he let this Long Island crowd do it if they'd pay his guarantee? They did and, because Clifford Harmsley wanted all his friends to see he'd been right and a dozen commercial producers wrong, he bought a block of seats for the opening and sent them all over town.

And because his name did mean something on commercial Broadway and because half a dozen producers were afraid maybe they might have been wrong about that play of his, "The Puritan Laughs," they all decided to run out to Long Island for the week-end and pick up the showing.

Then, because Imogene insisted to Bob Coe that the New York critics must be told she had deserted musicals for legitimate drama, Bob bought up a block of seats and personally took them around to the various critics and columnists.

And because Imogene's pictures from the musicals were "good leg stuff" and a dramatic editor will use stock cuts to dress up his page when he's in a hurry to get out on the golf course in the springtime, Imogene and the Boothe-Hardwicke Players broke into every tabloid and onto the mid-week roto of a conservative paper. In fact, two days before the opening, Eleanora and John, despite the fact that money was disappearing like water, had to admit that they had hit advance publicity better than they would have dreamed.

Eda Lou's home looked just a little bit bare these days. For at the last moment, she had decided that the company shouldn't pay a cent for properties. So every stick of furniture, every picture, every vase, that could be spared was looted from her home, and even from the homes of her friends.

EDA LOU'S mother was getting into this thing a little deeper than she anticipated, but she was a good scout and, having gone halfway and given Eda Lou her cooperation, she at least could see it through. Before long, she thought, something would happen to make Eda Lou change her mind about all this. All she had to do was to sit by and wait!

Only one thing marred the even tenor of the company's way. As Eleanora expressed it to John and Eda Lou. "Tad has gone stubborn with Harmsley—imagine it! He insists the man must rewrite that last half of the second act. They've been fighting all day. Harmsley says it's got to run as is and Tad insists he could write a better second act with one finger."

"And we open in two days!" John sighed. "Sometimes I think, Eleanora, that if we'd known Tad was taking the writing of plays so seriously, we'd have looked for another juvenile."

"By that time, it was too late," Eleanora sniffed. "By then, Tad had sort of taken things in hand. Sometimes I wonder who's running this company—you and I, or Tad Emerson. The whole company is about to explode."

"EXPLODE, PERHAPS,—but in Tad's favor," Eda Lou said spiritedly. "And anyway, I think Tad is right about that second act. Here he is, playing the young man about town, about to make an advantageous marriage—a marriage he knows will be good for him. And on the day before the wedding he gets pie-eyed and takes a little bum home with him, a nice little bum. And then who comes into the scene but the little Puritan who's going to marry him the next day. She's come to tell him she doesn't love him anyway. Then she finds him with the other girl.

"Is she just going to up and admit she doesn't want him, now that she's got a good excuse to walk out on him? Not if she's got one whit of pride. She's going to act more hard-boiled than he. That's when the Puritan in her is going to laugh. And what's he going to do? Stay and hear the fight between the two girls? He's going to walk out and let them settle it between them. Why, if that's played the way it's written, with her merely turning and shutting the door when she sees what's up, who cares what happens in the third act?"

"Atta girl, Eda Lou!" They started at the sound of Tad's voice. "That's exactly what I think. And to the devil with Harmsley. Listen—I've rewritten the scene, practically as Eda Lou's outlined it. And that's the way we're going to play it. Not a word to Harmsley. It's Imogene, Eda Lou and I who play that scene, and we'll play it my way the night of the opening. But it's a dead secret between us—ok?"

Natural Gas in San Francisco Costs too Much

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15—UP—City officials who are backing demands for reduction of the Pacific Gas and Electric company's natural gas rates had their innings today when they laid their complaints before the state railroad commission.

They contended that Northern California cities using natural gas are helping pay for artificial gas service in other communities.

Company engineers said the return from manufactured gas in the seventh district, from Eureka to the Kettleman hills, was only $40,000 annually, after depreciation, while investment in the plant was $4,243,000.

Natural gas consumers, it was charged, contributed the difference to bring the manufacturing gas plant to a paying basis.

Artificial gas is produced for Marysville, Willows, Oroville, Chico Colusa, Eureka, Grass Valley, Redding Red Bluff and Nevada City.

City attorneys of Santa Rosa, Sebastopol, Chico, San Mateo Berkeley and Marysville said they were ready to present their cases appealing for rate reductions.

Two Men Get $2000 At S. F. Branch Bank

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15—Two bandits who raided the Bank of America branch at Seventeenth and Castro streets and escaped with $2000 in currency and silver, are being hunted throughout the bay district today.

The thugs scooped the money in to a shopping bag, but the silver was so heavy it pulled the handles from the bag. They then dumped the loot in a waste basket and carried it to an automobile in which they disappeared.

Victims of the robbery were E. J. Stanley, manager; Louis Bisani and L. A. Wallace, clerks. The thugs entered at the closing hour 5 p. m. lined the three men against the walls, and proceeded with the robbery.

CHINESE FACES DEATH TRIAL

COLUSA, Aug. 15—District Attorney Ralph Rutledge indicated today he would demand the death penalty for Quang Shick, 40-year-old Chinse cook, who goes on trial in Superior Court here tomorrow for the murder of his countryman, Lee Huey Doo, 67, whom he assertedly shot four times and then clubbed over the head as his victim lay dying on a local street.

Shick and Doo engaged in an argument over a five-cent cup cake at a local Chinese grocery store on Sunday, June 18.

As nearly a dozen bystanders looked on, Shick called the old man outside and shot him to death.

The Bing Kong Tong, of which Shick is a members, has turned against him and his hired Attorney Alva A. King of this city to assist District Attorney Ralph Rutledge in the prosecution.

The slain man was also a member of the Bing Kong Tong.

Miss Muriel Engels Named Instructor

MARTINEZ, Aug. 15—Miss Muriel Engels, of Port Chicago, has been named to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Margaret Cullen O'Reilly, local grammar school instructor, who was married recently.

The appointment was made at a recent trustees' session, at which the board agreed to operate the school Sunshine camp, in the event that State funds are made available.

Driver Prefers Jail to Paying $5 Fine

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 15—Robert M. Sutherlin, 2604 Twenty-third avenue, Oakland spent yesterday in the county jail rather than pay a $5 fine imposed in the local justice court on charge he passed autos on the right.

Walter S. Lewis, 1201 Twenty-sixth avenue, San Francisco, paid a $75 fine after pleading guilty to misdemeanor charges of drunken driving.

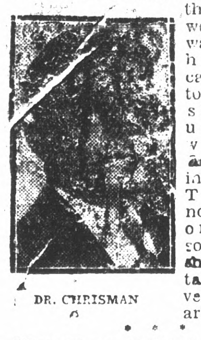
Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

First Aid Kit Should Be Included With All Gear When Touring



DR. CHRISMAN

MANY of us are figuring on taking a touring and camping vacation. As we start out, we should go prepared for many things that we do not always need at home. No camping or touring trip should be undertaken without a first aid kit in the car. This need not be large or cumbersome, but it should contain certain very definite articles.

* * *

FIRST an antiseptic, of which the best are Tincture of Iodine and Mercurocrome. Several one inch and two inch roller bandages. Some plain sterile gauze for dressing wounds; you can purchase antiseptic packages of gauze, three inches by three inches, large enough for most slight injuries. They can be procured for one or two cents each, and several can be used if necessary. Sterile cotton in one-quarter pound packages. A mild ointment for burns. It can be secured in tubes or cans. A pair of small scissors. A bottle of Oil of Citronella to discharge mosquitoes. Baking Soda for bites and stings or for sick stomach. A generous spool of adhesive tape. Make it big for it will be used for many purposes. Don't forget the hot water bottle. One with a large mouth can be used for ice packs as well.

THE car should have a fire extinguisher in it. On the market one can be secured now that fits into the steering post and does not cost very much and is always at hand. Great care should be taken with the drinking water and whenever there is any doubt of its purity it should be treated before drinking. Three to five drops of Tincture of Iodine can be added to a quart of water and allowed to stand for ten minutes before drinking. This is safe and sure in an emergency and accords a good protection, but should not be continued for any length of time because of the danger of Iodism.

IF YOU are camping where the water is in doubt; and all well and spring water as well as running water is in doubt, a B. K. Hypochloride solution may be added to the water, one or two parts to the million parts of water. This renders the water safe and can be used indefinitely. Mosquitoes, and chiggers or red bugs are a dreadful nuisance and when plentiful can be the cause of fever and sickness. Bathing the hands and face with Oil of Citronella offends the mosquitoes as also does coal oil.

A CLOTH saturated with coal oil and hung over your cot and around the room disagrees with them. Pouring some coal oil on your stockings about the top of your shoes will keep the chiggers from ascending that way. If they already have a foothold on your skin, rubbing of Tincture of Iodine or alcohol into their habitat will usually kill them. Carbolized vaseline is good for bites and sunburn. In making camp you should look for possibility of snakes and vermin. Do not make camp in a river or creek bottom where a sudden hard rain may wash you out.

* * *

WHEN you build a fire always clear away all the grass and leaves around your fire place and do not build it under a low hanging tree that may catch from the fire. Build it on clay soil or on a rocky place, because much low land has peat in it and if fire gets in that it will not be seen and is very hard to stop. Never leave a camp till you are absolutely sure your fire is entirely out.

QUESTION: Is there any way of ridding myself of varicose veins?—H. A. D.

ANSWER: The commonest method of treatment is the use of elastic bandage or a combination of bandage and plaster. The most recent approved way is by injection. Surgery is resorted to when the occasion demands. You must avoid sitting or standing in one position more than a few minutes.

Did You Know?

The bright parts of a car will clean more easily if sponged over with ammonia.

Honey should always be kept in the dark or it will granulate.

A little sugar will improve the flavor of cream of tomato soup and stewed tomatoes.

If a tomato is placed on a fork and held over gas flame, the skin can then be removed quickly.

GIRLS SHOULD STRIVE TO BE REALLY LOVELY

By JACQUELINE HUNT

MISS HUNT

HAVE you ever stood on a street corner and watched the dozens of women who pass? Have you noticed how few of them stand out from the crowd? How many really seem pretty or interesting or as if they would be pleasant persons to know? What is the trouble with them? Did you ever stop to answer that question? Many of them look so lost, so uncertain, as if they were strangers with themselves. They do not know their own coloring, or how to dress becomingly — and worse yet, they do not seem to have an aim in life.

Perhaps if something happened—something exciting, like falling in love—they would wake up and try to find out about themselves — how to be pretty and charming and desirable! Most of them could if they only knew. Can you imagine yourself as walking along with them and viewing yourself from far off? How do you compare? Are you chic and interesting and pretty?

Try to be pretty, but without neglecting the fun and thrill of living. So much of your charm depends on your enthusiasm for life—whether you are courageous and friendly and interested in all that takes place about you. Study the little tricks of make-up and grooming that will bring out your prettiness, and if you can, learn how to be chic and stunning — stand out from the crowd.

Have a lovely skin—we talked about that yesterday—and have lovely hair. When you have learned to care for your skin properly, see what your hair needs in the way of treatment. Nice hair is always healthy, absolutely clean and silky, whether it is a smooth, shining casque, or an aurora of glorious curls. There are other little niceties that you can learn, like the habit of spraying a little fragrant lotion or perfume on your hair, or using lovely rinses or brilliantine to add sheen and highlights.

But health and cleanliness are most important. If your hair is healthy and if it is clean, it will be charming without anything else. It will have a luster all its own and it will tend to fall into soft lines around the face. The health of your hair depends first on your own bodily condition, and second on the care that it receives. If you are nervous or rundown or ill, you cannot expect to have a head of hair that is the envy of your friends. Tend to your body first—so much can be done by the proper diet, proper elimination, sufficient sleep, exercise, fresh air and sufficient water.

The hair itself — when your body is in good condition — is made lovely by massage and brushing to stimulate your scalp. Get a good brush, one with firm, resilient bristles that reach all the way through your hair. Brush vigorously with those stimulating up-and-out-from-the-scalp strokes for at least five minutes every night. Brushing is an aid to cleanliness, as it removes the dead skin cells and the dust accumulated during the day.

Final cleanliness depends on the shampoo—and don't let anyone tell you that you must buy elaborate preparations for this purpose. A bar of castile soap from the five-and-ten, shaved into a pint of boiling water and allowed to dissolve and cool, makes about the nicest shampoo preparation that you can use. Use hot oil treatments often before you shampoo. They are good even for oily hair, since they stimulate the scalp and oiliness results from sluggishness.

Gentle, cleansing tonics are good for your hair, too, and they are a blessing when you must look your best in a hurry and there is no time for a regular shampoo. You see, it isn't hard to keep your hair lovely—and it should be lovely—something to thrill the imagination and to remember.

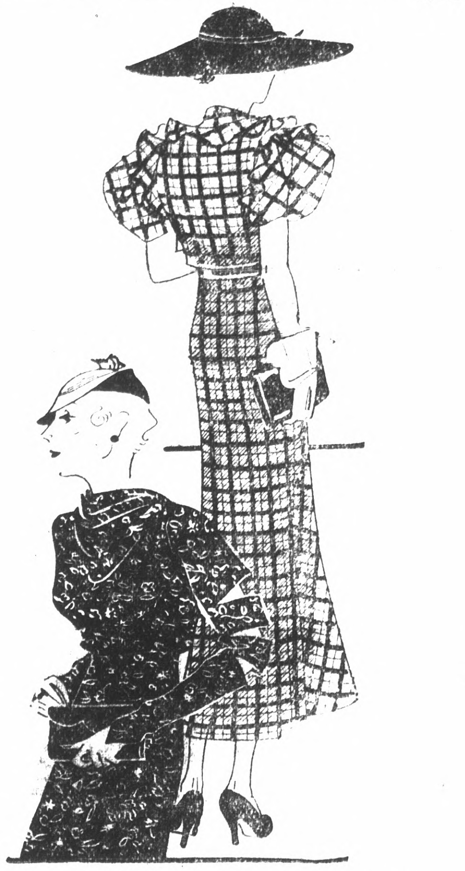
MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "Where should the bread tray and dish of extra butter be placed?—Mrs. W. P. C."

ANSWER: Where they may be easily reached. The butter knife should not be placed through the butter or on the dish, but beside the butter dish or in front. After it has been used, of course, the knife belongs on the butter dish.

SPEAKING OF STYLE

By IRENE VAIL



Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

The dress at lower left is done in a black crepe, the designs in multicolor—red, green and yellow. The high draped neckline that becomes a shallow V at the back, and the slashed treatment of the sleeves are interesting details.

The figure with back turned wears a dress in black and white plaid organdie, posed over a black slip, and the black patent leather belt is piped in gray.

New York—If one happens to be visiting in a house where the maid unpacks and lays out one's things, it seems of great importance to have something worthy of such attention and, incidentally, to impress the maid.

It is always safe to take along pajamas. They really are better than nighties for visiting. One feels better dressed for any journeys along corridors that may fall to one's lot. It is the same way when traveling. Pullman or cabin, pajamas are a great deal more appropriate than the sort of thing one might wear in one's own bed or in one's own boudoir.

Puffed Sleeves

The introduction of puff sleeves into sleeping garments does not make sense, but it does make style. The wide collars, round, square and shawl effects which sleeping garments sometimes have, seem nothing to boast about in the eyes of the woman who likes to have her neck and arms free while sleeping. Lovely though all these furbelows may look in the shops, they refuse to stay put in slumberland.

The day has, alas! returned when it is perfectly possible to pack one's clothes for a week-end trip or longer and find that a very necessary part of one's ensemble was missing, thus making it quite impossible for us to wear the dress at all. Heretofore, such extremities have been mercifully spared us. Our dresses were all in one. There could be no missing unit, no missing collar, for instance, since there was no collar to miss.

Long metal barpins continue to be one of the important styles in Paris costume jewelry, and among the newest designs are the pipes displayed with cards calling attention to them as "la pipe de Monsieur Herriot," and huge nails of gold or silver metal. These last are especially designed to be worn point downward on draped chechias or berets.

The above two-piece costume is fashioned of a print in red, black and white, a simple styling, with casually tied neckline and skirt with pleats for fulness.

CHILLED DRINKS AID A HOSTESS

A SURE way for a hostess to win popularity these hot summer afternoons or evenings is to be an expert when it comes to mixing and serving chilly drinks—whether they have a kick or not. Nothing else possesses the magic, soothing properties that will turn a cross, bored guest into an enthusiastic one. In addition, experts are not assuring us that cool drinks are good for us.

The body needs a lot of water under all conditions but especially so when the weather is hot. As long as iced beverages are sipped slowly no harm will result. The body gets its liquids and the throat is soothed and cooled. The fruit juices and the carbonated beverages commonly used in mixing drinks are also healthful since they give us valuable acids and aid the digestion.

With all of the juicy fruits and bottled drinks available no hostess should find it difficult to mix up a snappy beverage on a moment's notice. Here are just a few suggestions:

Pineapple-Mint

Bruise three large sprigs of washed mint in your largest beverage pitcher, add three cups of canned pineapple juice, the juice of three lemons, the juice of three oranges and one-half teaspoon powdered ginger mixed with two tablespoons of hot water. Add two cups of ice water and a little sugar if you feel the punch needs it. Chill and serve over ice cubes. This will make about six servings.

Fruit Punch

For the fruit punch in the second menu, soak one-half pound of dried apricots overnight, then stew until tender in the water in which they were soaked. Add one-half cup of sugar and cook five minutes longer then put through a coarse sieve. Combine the juice of one lemon and two oranges with one cup of sweet cider. Pour over the apricot pulp and stir thoroughly. Then strain and dilute to taste with ice water. Garnish with ripe, red cherries and serve with chopped ice or ice cubes. This makes six servings.

Useful Cucumber Rind

And by the way, the latest stunt is to add cucumber rind to fruit punch. What does it do—well it makes the punch bowl interesting and it adds a subtle, puzzling flavor to the beverage. Try this recipe: Pour two cups of boiling water over three teaspoons tea, cover and let steep for five minutes. Strain and add one-half cup sugar and cool quickly by pouring over cracked ice. Add two cups crushed pineapple, two cups of pitted sweet cherries sweetened with one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup lemon juice, two tablespoons grated orange rind and the rind of one cucumber cut into a thin spiral.

When ready to serve add one quart of gingerale and ice cubes. This will make enough punch for a sizeable reception—fifty punch glasses. You might try making about one-fourth of this quantity and serving large glasses of the punch as an appetizer for a family dinner.

Home-Making

By ALINE STERN

Dried beef and cheese form a savory sandwich mixture to spread between whole wheat bread and serve with dill pickle on the side. The mixture is made by combining three-eighths cup of chopped dried beef, one-eighth cup grated cheese, one-eighth cup chopped celery and mayonnaise to moisten.

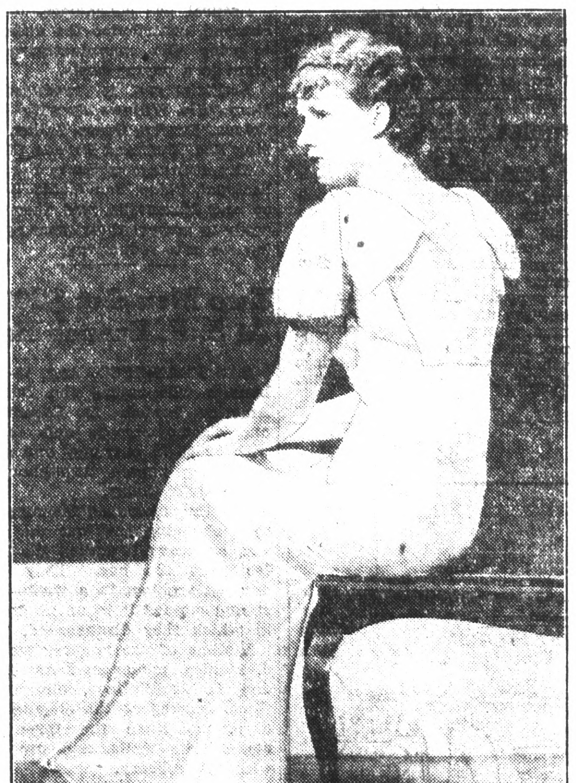
* * *

If coffee is bought in paper bags, it should be transferred to a tin can at once. Pick a can with a lid that fastens down fast, and see that it is kept down tight, if you want the coffee to remain fresh and flavorful.

* * *

Instead of putting butter over string beans after they are cooked, try putting the butter in at the start, along with the beans and water. Salt butter may be used. The beans absorb the butter in cooking, and the result is a tasty flavor that is different.

WHITE CREPE SATIN TO THE FORE



Among many timely suggestions for the fashionable woman is white crepe satin. In the above gown, low skirt fulness is expressed in four pointed godets.

You and Your Child

A PLAIN CHILD CAN BE LOVELY

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

MRS. GOWARD

"BETTY is such a plain child." Who knows what unhappiness these few words may bring to the heart of a little girl. Not every little girl in the world can be golden-haired and blue-eyed like a princess in a fairy tale.

Granted that Betty is not particularly pleasing to the eye, that pretty dresses are not becoming to her; that it is well nigh impossible to get a curl in her stringy mouse-colored hair, it is not her fault. There is nothing to be gained from calling to her attention the fact that she is not good-looking and hence has nothing to be proud of.

Before long Betty probably will be making faces at herself in the mirror. And if her mother scolds her for this, it will only make the matter worse, as little by little she is developing an inferiority complex. If allowed to go on in this way, she will find it hard to make friends at school and later will find it doubly hard to mix at parties and dances.

Cultivate Her Assets

Childhood is something precious and wonderful. There is beauty in every child waiting to be discovered. Appearances fortunately can be improved upon. If hair is straight, don't attempt to fluff it up. Have it cut short, instead, in a smart bob. Dress the child in simple frocks with becoming necklines and flattering collars. Help cultivate her most beautiful feature. She may have large thoughtful eyes. Let the child know that she is attractive and under no circumstance let her know that her own mother thinks she is "plain."

If her little body is thin and her cheeks pale, be sure that she gets plenty of fresh air. Specialize on her diet and see that she has plenty of nourishing foods. Fit up a little gymnasium in her room. Find out what she likes to do best, and help her to become proficient at it. Thus while other little girls have dimples and curls to make them popular, your little girl will have some social grace, or developing talents, to make her popular and happy throughout life.

How It Works Out

Soon you will discover that your friends are saying, "Hasn't Betty the loveliest smile?" "What lovely pink cheeks," or, "What an accomplished little girl." Friends are quick to follow a mother's suggestion. If a little girl's mother will admit that she is "plain," there will be plenty of other mothers who will be only too glad to agree.

Interior Secretary Helps A Friend Stage a Comeback

THEY say that an elephant never forgets. Some humans are like elephants, and one of these, as far as memory goes, is the quiet, unassuming man appointed by President Roosevelt to one of the most important posts in his official cabinet. This man is Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. He waited twenty-four years before he was able to help a conservative friend stage a comeback.

In 1909 Mr. Ickes was a young, liberal lawyer in Chicago, on the conservative side of the Ballinger-Pinchot row which had been stirred up by Louis R. Glavis, a 25-year-old Government land agent. So incensed were those in power at that time, that President Taft discharged Mr. Glavis, and a barrage of ripe tomatoes from the Senate old guard and the rock-ribbed Republican newspapers.

But time, which changes everything, changed the young, unknown liberal lawyer to the head of a great Government post. Secretary Ickes had been Mr Glavis' friend. That friendship endured. When Secretary Ickes took office, one of the first things he did was to look up his old friend. He found him living in Larchmont, Westchester County, New York, and practicing law in New York City. Almost before you could say "abba-dabba," Secretary Ickes sent Mr. Glavis to Muscle Shoals.

It didn't take Mr. Glavis long to find something interesting at Muscle Shoals. He is responsible for the current interesting argument about the two private power companies and the big Government plant. And he again finds himself in the middle of a controversy. Back in 1909 a newspaper described Louis B. Glavis as a "trouble maker."

Let's turn back the pages of time and see just how "meddlesome" Mr. Glavis was. In 1909, he was chief of the Field Division of the General Land Office. In Alaska he charged irregularities in the Cunningham coal claims. Gifford Pinchot, now Governor of Pennsylvania, and then chief forester, supported Mr. Glavis. The charges swung in the direction of Richard A. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior. He fought back with vigorous partisan support. Mr. Glavis was charged with disloyalty to his superiors and fired, while President Taft signed a sweeping vindication of Secretary Ballinger.

However, conservative newspapers kept up the fight, and in 1911, Secretary Ballinger resigned and his successor, Walter Fisher of Chicago, sustained the charges against the Cunningham claims.

And so, once again, after twenty-four years, Louis R. Glavis is special investigator for the Interior Department and once again he is ready to show his talent for ferreting out irregularities against the Government.

LIKE many other men in public life, Harold L. Ickes used to be a newspaper man himself. Years ago he was a reporter for the old Chicago Record. As a political reporter he covered both the Republican and Democratic National Conventions in 1900. But his ambition was to be a lawyer, so he went to the University of Chicago and was admitted to the bar in 1907. He had a faculty for being on the losing side in politics, but all that is changed now. It was one of the losers he once supported who recommended him for his present post. This friend was Hiram W. Johnson, the colorful Californian.

Secretary Ickes was born in Pennsylvania. He comes from a family whose members on both sides have been natives of the Keystone State for nearly 300 years. The Ickes first arrived in America with William Penn.

Most folks mispronounce his name. It is pronounced "Ick-es" with a short E. His middle name he tries to keep a secret. The new Secretary of the Interior dislikes city life, having a hobby of raising flowers and shrubs. His home at Winnetka, Ill., boasts a ten-acre garden. Some of his flowers have won prizes.

In his office in Washington hangs a large red, white and blue flag. In the box usually reserved for the field of blue with white stars, there are stripes of red and white, crossing each other. Secretary Ickes doesn't know just what kind of a flag, it is, but admits he should. "As soon as I clear up some of the work ahead of me," he says, "I'm going to ask one of the guides here to tell me."

WOMEN PROVING THEIR ABILITY AS EXECUTIVES

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

MRS. MARTIN

PREJUDICES against women in public life are not likely to survive the Roosevelt era. We may not be headed for a matriarchy in this country, but we are most certainly opening wide the doors so that women feel welcome in practically all walks of life. There seems to be a tacit admission that under woman's rule things could hardly be worse than they have been under man-made laws. Nobody now scoffs at a woman physician or dentist or lawyer, nobody pooh-poohs "a lady author," as the women writers were once called. Nobody scorns the very efficient Portias that come and go in all courts of justice, and most certainly no one trembles at the idea of a woman driver, so why should politics be made the great exception?

JUST why women want to involve themselves in political machinery is the other side of the question. Perhaps they really don't—that they run, or allow themselves to be appointed, from a sheer sense of duty. It does seem as though they ought to take their new duties more seriously than the men to whom they are no longer new, and who are often very careless in their discharge. If there is anything in the new broom theory, it could well be proven by the women who are newly appointed or elected to office.

IN ALL fairness, it must be admitted that all women who have swept through political office have not left it in spotless purity. There are bound, we presume, to be women politicians who are shy on scruples, yet it does seem as though they might make an heroic effort to curb their avarice for the glory and advancement of their sex, if for no other reason. The eyes of the world are on women. It behooves them to remember the fact and to disport themselves in the manner of Cæsar's wife, thus placing themselves above suspicion.

THERE is no point in women occupying office unless it is to elevate politics, which everyone must admit can stand considerable elevation. No fair-minded person would quibble over the method by which it is raised, but if women are just going to swell the ranks of undesirable office-holders, all that has been accomplished is to complicate the political plot.

* * *

NO ONE can deny the fact that women are capable, and executive. Not all women, naturally, any more than are all men, but it is the capable, executive sort one expects to find seeking office, or being urged to hold it.

* * *

THE charge is made against women in general that they are easily influenced, and by their emotions rather than by their head, and also that even the most capable women have their man higher up, whose instructions they take. Suppose it were true—is it more dangerous to be governed by emotions than it is by graft?

* * *

MOST women unquestionably are the better able to succeed in any enterprise when they have the added assistance, or support, of a man of judgment. This seems no argument against them for public office, since all politicians have their advisers, who either influence or "yes" them.

* * *

IF IT appears that a woman is more capable than a man of dealing with certain situations, perhaps only because she understands, and is more sympathetic with them, it seems distinctly narrow and biased not to choose a woman rather than a man for the post. So it is in business. Even though the day when every girl can get herself a job in the business world may be over, as many think, there will always be jobs in which women excel, and which even for the sake of putting men to work cannot be turned over to them.

Laying Linoleum

Before laying linoleum, or old linoleum that has been rolled up for some time, it should be left spread out on the floor for at least a week before it is cut. It will then go into its permanent shape. You will find that the linoleum, while lying flat, will decrease a little in length and expand slightly in width. If it is impossible to leave it to settle down, allow for the difference in the cutting, and cut it full in the length to the extent of, say, half an inch for every six feet.

commission of financial experts will be invited to Havana to study the problems.

Collections Slow

Cuba's tax collections have been difficult and it may soon be impossible for the government to provide some $15,000,000 a year for the servicing of the $160,000-- indebtedness largely owed to banks and bondholders in the United States.

Resignation of Finance Secretary Martinez Saenz to handle the government's economic problems with the aid of Ambasador Welles was taken as an indication the government regards the economic crisis as among the most important questions facing the new leaders.

Financial rehabilitation, it was said, may lead to a reduction of the sinking fund and would visualize a more scientific system of taxation generally in the island.

United States utilities companies probably would be little affected by the change, although a move may be started to arrange for lower tariffs on such commodities as light, power and gas, now sold at high rates.

Move is Approved

Ambassador Welles' example in moving to establish formal official relations with the new Cuban administration reacted favorably upon the other members of the diplomatic corps. Most of them were prepared to recommend similar, action to their some governments, the United Press was informed.

Welles in a conference with his fellow diplomats here, told them in his opinion and that of the government at Washington the De Cespedes government had order restored and that the people of the republic appeared satisfied with their new leadership.

Warships Questioned

Asked about the presence of United States warships in Cuban waters, Welles explained they came to support the Cuban provisional government's efforts to maintain peace during the period of transition—should help be asked.

He emphasized no thought of intervention had been held at any time, but that the gesture was purely one of precaution to protect American lives and property in Cuba and assist the new regime in holding its position and maintaining order in the opening days of its existence.

Law Gives People Right to go Naked; Fakers are Dangerous

By MIGNON BECK

ROUND MOUNTAIN, Shasta County, Aug. 15—In eyes of the American public, nudism, until recently, was something practiced only by Germans or crazy radicals, but of late there has been such a flood of publicity that the average citizen is sitting up and taking notice.

"What, ho," he says, "it seems that some crazy galoots are copying the Europeans. Bad 'cess to them."

"Apeing the Europeans? Not at all" says the nudist. "Growth of nudism in the United States is merely keeping pace with the evolution of society as a whole. The fear of nakedness is being discarded along with other worn-out traditions of the past.

Bathing suits are becoming more abbreviated each season. Shorts only for men is the accepted thing. Going nude is commonplace in the privacy of the home, and while this is not nudism in the accepted sense, it at least is a step in that direction."

Conditions Differ

Many ask why there have to be nudist colonies. "If I want to go naked," they say "I take a trip to the country and disrobe without the attendance of secretary or treasurer"

The modern factory worker or clerk does not live in a penthouse. Neither has he the time nor the money to look for inaccessible places in the country where he may remove his clothes without danger of being exposed.

Stuart Chase economist an advocate of nudism, says: "I shrink from the Teutonic organizations of the modern nudists. I like to sunbathe when the mood seizes me, and I like the adventure of finding the proper spot away from other people but I realize my good fortune in having more time and space than the average working man. If he and his family are to sunbathe at all, they must have organized facilities."

There you have the reason for organized colonies and gymnasiums. The average person must have a private place not too far from the city if he is to enjoy nudism while vacationing. And if he is to go nude while in the city he must do so without benefit of instruction in gymnastics, swimming and the like unless he joins a group.

'Fak'r' Dangers

The greatest danger to this growing movement is not public opinion or reformers and kibitzers, but from pseudo-nudist outfits whose purpose is to attract the preurient-minded. They already have kept away from the real nudish movement many people in search of the healthful benefits of sunshine.

So long as they bother no one you might say the law clothes people with the right to go naked. In California the law says:

"Every person who wilfully or lewdly either (1) exposes his person—in any public place where there are present other persons to be offended or annoyed thereby, or (2) procures, compels or assists any person to so expose himself or to take any part in any model artist exhibition or take any indecent exposure of himself to public view or to the view of any number of persons such as is offensive to decency or is adopted to excite lewd or vicious thoughts or acts is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Looking over this statute it does not seem that a nudist colony in California or state with similar laws would be molested unless it carried its nudism into a public place—which is extremely unlikely.

County Mechanics to Meet Tomorrow In Richmond Hall

In compliance with the National Recovery Act, a mass meeting of all Contra Costa county building mechanics has been called for Thursday night, August 17, in the Brotherhood hall, 257 Fifth street, Richmond, it was announced today.

While the meeting will be held under auspices of the Building Trades Council of Contra Costa county, both union and non-union building mechanics of the county are urgently invited to attend.

The session will be the first held in the county by building craftsmen to formulate a code under the terms of the NRA.

The mass meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock. Those invited to attend the discussions of problems relating to the workers are carpenters, plumbers, painters, steamfitters, lathers, hoist engineers, hardwood floormen, electrical workers, tile setters and miscellaneous craftsmen.

WATER JUMP SAVES MAN

ANTIOCH, Aug. 15—John Skov was reported recovering today from injuries received when gasoline in a boat on which he was working at a local shipyard ignited. Burned about the face, shoulders and neck, Skov jumped overboard and was rescued a short time later. He was treated at the Antioch hospital.

Woman Finds Gold Watch in Can of Peaches

SIERRA MADRRE, Cal., Aug. 15—Mrs. Fred Lalone has the admiration and esteem of everyone who saw her pull that watch out of a can of peaches.

She bought the can for twenty cents, opened it, dumped out its contents and found that the canning company thoughtfully had included in the pack one perfectly good gold watch.

Rid of its syrup, it ran perfectly.

Peach Growers Plan is Okayed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace tonight signed the California Peach Canners agreement.

The measure goes into effect, according to farm administration officials immediately. Under terms of the cofe, growers will receive $20 a ton for all peaches btained for canning. Committees will allocate the crop, limited to 218,000 tons.

Richmond Plant Increases Help Pay Is Boosted

A decided increase in employment bringing the plant into line with the blanket code provisions of NRA was reported yesterday through the chamber of commerce by Ralph Bergen, manager of the Certain-teed plant here.

"Between July 1 and August 1 the number of our Richmond plant employees were increased approximately 23.5 per cent and as of August 7, when a further number was added, the increase in numbers as compared with July 1 amounted to 63 per cent," he said.

"Also effective August 1 our Richmond plant wage scale was increased 11 per cent bringing the minimum wage to a level consistent with President Roosevelt's blanket code.

"A very representative percentage of our total employees are working seven hour shifts five days a week, and there is no instance of any employee being on duty in excess of forty hours per week, which is in line with the President's code.

"I might add that part of the increase in the numbers of our plant employees is due to seasonal activities, but naturally a large part of this increase is due to the reduction in the hours of individual employment.

"Our company is supporting the President's blanket code to the best of our ability, consistent with our peculiar plant requirements, which conditions are provided for in the blanket code, and it is our purpose to go to the extent of our influence in securing similar cooperation on the part of the trade with which we come in contact."

200 Men Added to Fibreboard Plant

ANTIOCH, Aug. 15.—More than 200 men had been added to the payroll of a local fibreboard products plant today following acceptance of the NRA code, according to George W. Harter, superintendent.

The readjustment was effected yesterday, Harter said, and wages have been restored to the scale paid before cuts were ordered.

The entire plant has been placed on a 40 hour week basis and employes working full time prior to the change will receive additional pay for the first 15 days of the month.

D. H. Patterson, general manager of the company, was one of three representatives of the paper board industry serving on the committee which formulated the code.

$2000 Bail Set On Negro Girl

Stella Burney, alias Wright alias Steele, was arraigned in police court yesterday on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Her bail was set at $2000 and she was taken to the local jail again to await removal to Martinez.

Miss Burney ws taken into custody some days ago in an investigation into the activities of William Wright Negro who was shot while fleeing from a local officer last week.

It is believed that she received articles which Wright obtained in numerous burglary jobs.

Court Attack on NRA Is Failure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—UP—The first court attack against the constitutionality of the National Recovery Act failed today in District of Columbia supreme court when an application for an injunction to set aside operation of the law as it affected Texas oil refiners was denied by Justice Joseph Cox.

Forty nine Texas refiners had sought to have set aside the interior's department recent restrictions on interstate shipment of oil.

Electricians of County Meet Here

Another meeting of the newly-organized Master Electricians of Contra Costa county was held last evening in the local Builders Exchange. George Edwards' president pro tem, conducted the session.

M. R. Rosenburg and E. S. Krantz, both electrical contractors in Oakland, gave brief addresses.

Election of permanent officers was deferred until a later meeting.

Fiorello H. La Guardia, independent Republican and former U. S. Representative who was named to replace Major General John F. O'Ryan as candidate for mayor of New York City.

Lindberghs In Successful Hop Over Ice Floes

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 15—UP—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 7:22 p.m. after an uneventful flight over the north Atlantic from Angmagsalik, on the east coast of Greenland.

They made the 600 mile hop without incident as part of their aerial mapping survey of the new air route from north America to Europe.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were unable to make a landing in the inner harbor due to choppy water. Instead they circled the city several times and finally alighted off Vatnagardar.

A large crowd was present to greet the fliers. Officials of state and town welcomed them officially. Steingremur Jonsson, representative of Pan American Airways, escorted the Lindberghs to their suite at the Hotel Borg.

Enthusiastic Icelanders broke pol ice lines and followed Jonsson's flag decorated automobile.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 15—UP—The Aftenposten said today that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is expected to proceed shortly to Norway using the Pan - American Airways gasoline depot at Stavanger, on the Norway coast.

The report said the depot was being prepared by Captain Riiser Larsen, Norwegian flier.

WALKOUTS SPREAD TO NEW FIELDS

their long promised strike threats today when they quit work in Salinas valley lettuce fields. P. H. Ca[illegible]ongay, president of the Philippine chamber of commerce, said 1,00 more would join the walkout.

Want 30 Cents

The Filipinos want 30 cents an hour, rather than the 20 cents they have been paid.

Growers and shippers said the strikers were replaced quickly, and that little inconvenience was noted.

BERKELEY, Cal., Aug. 15—UP—Failure of employers to make NRA codes effective was responsible for strike difficulties in California fruit orchards, according to J. Stitt Wilson former socialist mayor of Berkeley.

"The pickers demand working conditions entitled to them under the NRA," he said. "They are receiving only one-half or at the least two-thirds of the pay they should.

"Growers and packers have delayed putting NRA codes into effect and the pickers are impatient because the season soon will be over."

Democrat Club Session Mistake

There will be no meeting of the Richmond Progressive Democratic club tomorrow evening.

Announcement of the gathering made in yesterday morning's edition was an error.

A. C. Lang, president of the club, is scheduled to go to Martinez tomorrow evening to attend a session of the picnic committee. Plans for this occasion are going ahead ropidly and a good time is anticipated.
